Yesterday was the anniversary of the birth-day of the Empress Dowager of China. Her Majesty is sixty years old.

The Kobo girls note the arrival at that port of a sportsman sent by the Emperor of Austria as a present to the Emperor of Japan. They were to be transported for Yokohama in charge of a native veterinary surgeon.

The new Chief Justice of the Straits, Mr. William Henry Lionel Cox, arrived at Singapore on the 8th instant, by the French mail. Mr. Cox, the late Chief Justice, who has been transferred to Ceylon, left the same day.

At the ordinary meeting of the board of directors of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, held on the 11th October, a letter from the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce dated 1st September enclosing the Chamber's Memorial to Lord Rosebery on the opening of the West River, was referred to the India, China and Colonial Committee.

The Acting Commandant of the Hongkong Volunteer Corps (Colonel Jernell) notified that there are a few vacancies in the Field Battery, and gentlemen intending to join should do so in time as to do in order that they may be ready to take part in the annual gun practice. It is expected that the Volunteer Institute will be formed in the near future. The fittings and furniture of the Institute have, we understand, been provided by Government, while its upkeep will be maintained by the Corps.

A most enjoyable dance was given in the City Hall on Thursday evening by the members of the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders. There was a great company, but at no time was the St. George Hall, indeed, so crowded, and from a dancer's point of view the entertainment was almost ideal. Liberal hospitalities were dispensed, card tables were provided, the facility was kept up briskly until the "wassies" began, and when "God Save the Queen" brought the function to a close a general hope was expressed that the dances which the Institute intended to give during the winter may be equally pleasant and successful.

In noting the early return of His Highness Rajah Brooks of Sarawak, to his territory the London and China Express says:—"Regarding the rumours to his intention to negotiate for the addition of the territory of British North Borneo to his own, some discussion has taken place during the last few days, and it is likely to continue, a definite offer being made for a portion of the rich territory of the country.

The same being proportionate to the amount of power which would be reserved to Rajah Brooks.

As the matter would first have to be considered by the Court of Directors, and before the success of her long regency has been due to herself and how much to her Ministers, it is impossible to say, for the secrecy of the Palace shrinks in obscurity the individuality of those who occupy it, but she is believed to be a woman of strong force of character. Had she not been so she would have maintained her position so firmly under circumstances of difficulty. The selection of the present

Emperor to succeed his cousin Tung-chi was contrary to Chinese ideas of succession, and it will be remembered that some years ago a high official presented a memorial regarding the breach of propriety, committing suicide as soon as the document was sent in. The arrangement come to was, however, quietly accepted by the nation, but it was no doubt due to the strong will of the Empress Dowager and the skill with which she controlled competing factors that the scheme of placing her nephew on the throne and securing to herself a lease of power for another long minority proved successful. During the earlier portion of the time that she held the reins of power the country was disturbed by the Taiping Rebellion, later Tso-kao's rebellion had to be suppressed, and then came the difficulty with Russia about the restoration of the Ili territory, followed a few years afterwards by the French reprisals for Chinese action in Tonkin. It was therefore not an uninterrupted time of peace during which the Empress Dowager presided over the fortunes of the nation, and the difficulties were smoothed away so successfully must be recorded to her credit. She has now retired, nominally if not virtually, from the helm of state and resides in a palace built for her by her nephews in the grounds of the Summer Palace destroyed by the Allies, where for her entertainment and recreation electric launches have been placed on the lake. It is believed that she would dearly like to move a little more abroad and say for herself the foreigners of whose mysterious steamboats and other inventions she has heard so much and whose relations with the Flower Kingdom have necessarily occupied so large a part of her attention. Chinese etiquette, however, compels her to remain in seclusion.

YESTERDAY Shanghai commenced its Jubilee celebration, which will be continued to-day, and the Acting Governor has sent a telegram tendering on behalf of Hongkong cordial congratulations on the auspicious occasion. The terms of the telegram will be heartily endorsed by the community, for we are so closely connected with the Model Settlement by ties of friendship and trade that we necessarily take a genuine interest in all its affairs. The recent death of the Chairman of the Municipal Council must have thrown a gloom over the festivities, and with Shanghai in the loss sustained by the death of the late Mr. MacCausland, Hongkong sincerely sympathises. We also sympathise with our Northern friends in the fact that the celebration of their Jubilee should have coincided, as did Hongkong, with a period of deep, we might almost say unprecedented, financial stringency. It is difficult to wear a jubilant face with gloom in the heart. Nevertheless, the occasion was one that could not be passed over without due celebration. In fifty years a town of wealth and magnificence, governed as concerns its municipal affairs on foreign principles, has grown up on Chinese soil, has become the commercial metropolis of the Chinese Empire, the Paris of its pleasures, and the introducer of foreign methods of manufacture and trade. Shanghai no less than Hongkong stands as a monument of the energy of the European race, and chiefly of British enterprise and aptitude, for the settlement is a cosmopolitan one that was planned and British interests have always been predominant. To Shanghai, with its trade of a hundred and seventy million taels a year, its vast shipping, its handsome streets, and its well ordered public life, Hongkong cannot but offer congratulations on past success and entertain the hope that the temporary financial depression from which it now suffers may speedily pass away and be succeeded by a new era of prosperity.
